Field of the Invention This invention relates to an automatic speed control for a vehicle travel control system, and more particularly to a speed control system in which the speed is controlled so that the vehicle travels at a predetermined vehicle speed without an increase in vehicle speed. 2. Description of the Prior Art There has been proposed an automatic speed control system for controlling the speed of a vehicle so that the vehicle travels at a predetermined vehicle speed without increasing the vehicle speed. This type of speed control system comprises a vehicle speed detecting means for detecting the vehicle speed and a vehicle speed changing means for changing the vehicle speed to a predetermined vehicle speed when a predetermined vehicle speed limit is exceeded or when the vehicle speed detecting means detects that the vehicle speed has exceeded a predetermined value. The vehicle speed changing means comprises: a vehicle speed limit detecting means for detecting a speed limit value of the vehicle; a vehicle speed control means for setting a vehicle speed limit value depending on the vehicle speed detected by the vehicle speed detecting means; a vehicle velocity detecting means for detecting a vehicle velocity; a vehicle speed changing means for setting a vehicle speed limit value depending on the vehicle velocity detected by the vehicle velocity detecting means; and a vehicle velocity change-over means for controlling the vehicle speed changing means to set the vehicle speed limit value depending on the vehicle velocity detected by the vehicle velocity detecting means when a speed limit value not less than that of the vehicle velocity detected by the vehicle velocity detecting means is set by the vehicle speed changing means. In such a control, the vehicle velocity is controlled by setting a limit value for the vehicle velocity depending on the vehicle velocity detected by the vehicle velocity detecting means. Therefore, it is possible to control the vehicle at a desired speed under a favorable condition even when a slip occurs and the vehicle speed changes to an extent exceeding the
