A: I created a small demo to easily run a single example using multiple threads. What the code below does is it reads the video with ffmpeg, decompresses it and writes the decompressed file to disk. It also invokes the application (cmd.exe) using the ThreadPool to execute a command line and check the spawned processes and threads. Disclaimer:

I'm not a software developer, this is just a hobby to see how things work in .NET and Windows.

using System.Threading; using System.Threading.Tasks; using System.Windows.Forms; namespace
ReaSoftDemo { public partial class Form1 :
    Form { public Form1() { InitializeComponent(); } private void button1_Click(object sender, EventArgs e) { var application = new Process();
    application.StartInfo.FileName = @"C:\Windows\System32\cmd.exe"; application.StartInfo.Arguments =

```
"C:\Users\gym\Desktop\threads1.exe"; Task.Factory.StartNew(() => { Thread.Sleep(5000);
        application.WaitForExit(); },
    TaskCreationOptions.LongRunning |
    TaskCreationOptions.None, TaskScheduler.Default);

bought from a stall in a charity craft fair last year. They were going cheap, so I grabbed them up, they are made by the woman of Folly Farm, a craft fair in Wormsley in Oxfordshire. The stall looked quite messy, because she was finishing off a batch. I'm now not going to bother trying to match my photo to the paint box. I might do it later when I'm at home. About Me I am a catholic who is getting older. I live in a quiet village, a little way from nowhere. I love my job, but the hours are a bit odd, as I commute from home to work. The local council are trying to evict us because we bought a bit of land. My job has taken me all over England and now to Wales. I'm sure there is more, but these are my achievements, so far, Oh, and I come from Somerset. The Cat Box The cat box has a permanent door
